HONGKONG, JANUARY 17TH, 1911. THE serious note sounded by Mr. Lau Chu Pak in his address to the boys of Ellis Kadoorie School on Saturday was very timely, and no thoughtful reader of that speech can take exception to the sentiments uttered or to the warning delivered on that occasion. Without being pessimistic, it deplored one feature of the change which is passing over China-the decay of reverence, the disappearance of respect for parents teachers and those in authority. No lover of China can witness such changes without regret. But though we join in expressing our disapproval of the conditions outlined by the speaker, we cannot help regarding them as a phase, temporary rather than permanent, of the evolution through which the race is passing. The national regeneration of China, which is the wish of many Chinese great mental upheaval, and consequently the traditions and customs and beliefs which have hitherto influenced life and conduct are being attacked on all sides. The good in these which has enabled them to survive so many centuries is apt to be overvalue becomes discounted in the burning enthusiasm for the brighter and greater knowledge radiating from the West. This of the world is so vast as to involve a complete transformation, and the alterations necessary are so radical in nature that they cannot be accomplished without a tremendous change in thought as well as in social and economic conditions. Trial and experiment must be the order of the coming years in China. New ideas have to be grafted on toolder and well-tried beliefs; many old teachings will have to be abandoned, and to evolve a system of civilisation, worthy of the great knowledge to which the foremost nations have reached, which shall at the same time be suited to the Oriental necessary. Considerable time must clapse sador has further assured Turkey that Board of Directors for eight years, and his and much experience gained before old and the Russo-German understanding is departure left a gap in [their ranks which is new conditions can be readjusted, and the period of transition must of necessity reveal much that is unsatisfactory. passing from the old régime the tendency lished authority—civil, social, and religious | Mesopotamia as foolish inventions. cannot be other than subversive of estab--and some years will have to pass before the educational-harvest is reaped and before the ideas which represent the new régime have become assimilated. For instance, the parliamentary idea represents a belief that the Throne is incapable of governing or of framing laws unaided. That must be fol- interrupted telegraph and telephone lowed by a lessening of the veneration for the Throne. The new education has the effect of belittling the wisdom of the ancients in China: it explodes old beliefs and ideas: Consequently, the younger generation feel inclined to question the teaching of their elders, and in some instances to show a lack of respect. Such conduct is regrettable certainly, but we believe it will not last longer than the transition period. Filial obedience and respect to elders is so innate a quality of the Chinese that we believe the disrespect and absence of manners noticeable among many of the young will be curbed by the force of public disapproval, and this, operating with a better understanding of the new culture, should result in the desirable prospect of a new, and enlightened China, whose sons shall also be courteous and dignified.

Return of visitors to the City Hall Library and Museum for the week ending the 15th January shows that of non-Chinese there were 403 to the Library and 287 to the Museum, and of Chinese 177 to the former and 2,138 to the latter. The Library was, therefore, used by 580 persons and the Museum by 3,425.

SIR HENRY MAY.

PRESENTATION OF AN ADDRESS AT THE Y.M.C.A.

Seldom have the Y.M.C.A. Rooms in Alexandra Buildings been so thronged as they were last night on the occasion of Sir Henry May's farewell to the Association with whose work he has been so closely identified since its inception in the Colony. The attendance in cluded H.E. Governor, Lady May, and many leading members of the community. The chair was taken by Mr. P. H. Holyoak. In an interval of the programme,

Mr. A. H. Harris, on behalf of the members' presented an address to Sir Henry May, who he said, had filled the office of chairman of the Directors would shortly have to fill the vacancy. construction and railway junctions in for which they wanted one of the leading Persia. The Ambassador described business men in sympathy with the aims of the Association.

The address was in the following terms:

The Members of the European Young Men's Christian Association desire to express their deep regret at the approaching departure of their President, Sir Henry May, K.C.M.G., from Hongkong. Joining the Board of Dir ec tors from the earliest lays, in May, 1903, when it was intended that one Board should have Gales and snowstorms in Spain have oversight of the two Departments, European and Chinese, Sir Henry May remained at the head of the European Branch on the separation of the two Departments. His strong practical common sense, his sympathy, the regularity of his attendance as Chairman and the willing share which he took in assisting to raise subscriptions for the furtherance of the Association's work,—these and such like qualities have impressed themselves on the minds of the Members and have been of great assistance to all his colleagues on the Board of Directors.

The work of the Association has been carried on under many difficulties but we take pleasure in recording the perseverance and cheery optimism of Sir Henry May. We likewise desire to thank him for the help so willingly accorded at the social gatherings of the Association; to which gatherings Lady May's frequent help and presence gave assured success and much pleasure

We are confident that the encouragement given to the Association in Hongkong will be readily accorded to kindred work in the new and higher sphere of labour to which Sir Henry May has been called. We offer him our hearty

HONGKONG BENEVOLENT SOCIETY.

ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the members of the Hongkong Benevolent Society was held yesterday at noon. The Hon Mr. H. Keswick presid- thanks to Lady May, the retiring President. Bishop and Mrs. Lander. The annual report was read as under:

The ladies of the Committee beg to submit the following report and statement of accounts for 1910. During the year the work of the Society has gone on steadily, and several very pregent cases of need have been relieved. Regarding those helped, the rules of Society prevent much from being publicly, but ashort account of some of the cases, is appended. In seven instances definite news has subsequently reached us showing that the help given to meet a crisis has resulted in a fresh start in life and in better days for the recipients. In addition to thirty cases kindly attended to by the Reverend C. E. Thompson and helped with money granted to him for the purpose, the Committee have received fiftythree applications. The case of each applicant has been duly investigated and considered, Forty received assistance either with clothing, temporary board and lodging, situations or passages to places where they had relatives or promises of work; ten were not helped; and three were brought to the notice of those who were willing to help them privately. Eleven of the applications come from women and each was helped in some way. Two whose husbands had deserted them and three who were widows were helped to go to relations; one whose husband had promise of work elsowhere was enabled to accompany him and to take her children with her; another whose husband had already secured work was assisted to take her children to re-join him; others were assisted locally. All were in real distress and want when the applications were made. Of the men helped by the Committee eleven secured billets through our timely assistance and are at present in work; twelve were helped to go to ports where they would have a better chance than here; five were given temporary board and lodging only; and one, a consumptive, without home, relatives or means, will be in need of help when he comes out of hospital. With reference to of the applicants who have been helped to leave the Colony we wish to thank those shipping Companies who have kindly granted reduced rates of passage. Our thanks are also due to all the subscribers and denots to the Society who have strengthened our hands during the past year, for it is not so difficult to think out ways for helping those in distress if we know that the means are forthcoming. Before a case is investigated it is usually brought to the notice of the Committee by some reliable person who is interested in it. Special attention is drawn to this fast in order that new subscribcongratulations on his promotion and our best' ers may realize that they are at liberty to send cases to the Committee for investigation. By this means much distress in the Colony be alleviated, and indiscriminate giving may be avoided. The increase of cases, which may be regarded as a sign of the times, calls for a corresponding increase of subscribers, and the constant exodus of residents necessitates a definite appeal being made to those who have arrived in the Colony recently to enable the Committee, by becoming annual subscribers or donors to the Society, to carry on their work. ST. STEPHEN'S SCHOOL PRIZE DISTRIBUTION.

The annual prize distribution of St. Stephen's. College took place in the Lai Kwai Pui Hall of the College yesterday in the presence of a number of parents and friends of the scholars. His Excellency the Governor presided, and had geated with him on a platform at the end of the hall her Excellency Lady Lugard, his Lordship Bishop Lander, the Ven. Archdencon February 16th. Barnott (Warden of the College), Mr. E. A. Irving (Director of Education); Dr. Saundors, Rev. F. T. Johnson, Mr. A. H. Parris and Captain Simson (Private Secretary).

After an opening prayer the Warden read his report.

ARCHDEACON BARNETT said: -Your Ex. cellency, My Lord Bishop, Lad es and Gentlemen, Once again it is my pleasing daty to report steady progress. The new wing of the College, provided by the parents and guardians. has been fully utilized. Both staff and students have appreciated the facilities provided by this increased accommodation. There has been an average of over thirty boarders-double the number of the preceding year, and in addition 130 day boys. The number of names on the roll has totalled 193. a large increase over former years. Four times in the year written examinations are he'd throughout the school. With but few exceptions the results have b en satisfactory, and in a large number of cases very The passes in the Oxford Local Examinations in July, though high, barely stained in for little but the last. St. Stephen's, as we al some respects to last year's standard. Two know, stands apart from any other educational passed in the Preliminary, nine in the Junior, and eight in the Senior-, a total of 19 out of 21 recommended. Ng See He in the Preliminary section obtained honours with Distinction in Chinese; Chan In Cho was given Distinction in Chinese in the Junior section; while among the Seniors four rained a like honour. In other words, out of 12 Distinctions allotted to Hongkong, six were awarded to students of this College. Seven of the Seniors also obtained the Associate of Arts degree. The Candidates in all were granted certificates exempting them from Responsions. Half of these were won by St. Stephen's College condidates, and it is fitting that I should here inform you In examining more closely the detailed lists issued from Oxford, one promising feature is worthy of note. I refer to the results in English Composition. None but schoolmasters can appreciate the difficulties which confront those who essay to impurt to Chinese students a rudimentary knowledge of English. idiom. It is not surprising, therefore, that passes in Senior Composition among Chinese students in the Hougkong centre have been somewhat exceptional, not exceeding perhaps 30 per cent. In 1910, however, there was marked advance, 68 per cent. of tho Seriors having satisfied the Examiners in this subject. Those interested in education will be pleased to mark this evidence of closer attention given to English Composition in the Hongkong Schools, more particularly in view of the higher education to be soon offered through the University. Seeing that the University cannot be opened until after the beginning of next year, several of our students, impatient of delay, have left recently for England or America to pursue their studies in foreign seats of learning. For the benefit of a few others who, having passed the Oxford Senior Examination, wish for more sedvanced lectures by day, a University Preparation Class has been formed which we hope to continue throughout 1911. The est for the coveted position of Duk of the College, always keen though friendly, has lost none of its interest because competed for by those in the higher form who wrestled for the honour last year. The modal has been awarded to Lenne Nai Hang. Among the year's innovations the half-yearly entrance examination and classes in Mandarin, which were promised in last year's report, have both proved beneficial. The teaching in Mathematics and Science has been advanced, and the study of the Chinese Classics has become more acceptable to students now that it is recognised in the local examinations. The Wei On Scholarship may not be taken by any student two years in succession. Under this rule both Loung Nai Hang and Chau Tsun Nin are not eligible for the prize. For place in the Oxford Locals, therefore, the medal is awarded to Wei Wing Look. See Chung Su is accorded a similar honour for premier position in commercial subjects. There have been few contests on the playground this year. A keener. interest has been manifested in cricket since the turfing of the ground in the summer. The only outside match played was against Queen's College. This was won by our Eleven. In a Tennis cont at with the Diocesan School we likawisa successful, but in football our losses outweigh the gains. been increased by two hours' help daily which the Roy. C. B. Shann is able to spare while studying the Chinese Language. Mr. Fung Man Sui one of our most successful old boys. has joined the teaching staff. Temporary assistance is also being kindly given by the Rev. S. W. Payne. The College Council is now in negotiation for an additional Science master in view of anticipated developments in this branch of study in connection with the University. He may be expected early in the year. Mr. Nairn, our Science master, having fulfilled five years valuable service, is now leaving on furlough well-deserved. Mr. Hancock, the popular Senior master, is due on the completion of his furlough, about the middle of February. Mr. Mackenzie, after being connected with the College since its inception in 1903, expects in the early summer to transfer his faithful services from the College to the Medical Mission at Nanning under Dr. Lechmere Clift. In addition to his heavy duties in the large Fourth Form, Mr. Henderson has given generous help in the plays round. Since last Report the Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Hewitt have taken up their residence in the College. This has been a distinct gain, especially for the boarders. To Mr. Hewitt, Lam personally indebted for the ready and able man- of the ablest intellects our country has produced ner in which (notwithstanding the many claims upon his time) he has acted for me during an enforced temporary absence from duty. The Angle Chinese and Classical masters, together which arrived only by last post. This problem with the office staff, have, as always, rendered faithful service. To one and all the College Council wishes to repeat its assurance of appreciation for goodwork done. The establishment of a University in our midst has afforded the Church Missionary Society an opportunity of still further contributing somewhat to the educational efficiency of the Colony. The desirability of providing a Hostel for students attending the University was early laid before the Executive body of the Society, and I am glad of this opportunity to thank your Excellency for your able advocacy of our proposal both before the Committee in London and in Liverpool. For many years a C.M.S. Girls' School has been conducted at "Fairlea." This property being immediately opposite theentrance to the University, it has been decided to remove the Girls' School elsewhere and to erect upon this valuable site a Hostel which shall be primarily for the convenience of students pas.

About one half of the initial sum required is now in view, so that we expect to be laying the foundations before many months have passed, Our thanks are tendered to those gentlemen who have again so generously assisted the Prize Fund. It remains for me but to announce that the next entrance examination will be held on Feb. 14, and to wish the boys a happy New Year, a healthy holiday, with a prompt return to their places on the re-opening of the College on

I should like to come here and be able to offer some friently criticism or some useful advice as well as to show my deep interest in your successes by my congratulations, and have to complain that you manage to leave room establishment in this Colony, since although it neither a Government school ner a grant school it affords a higher education second to none in the Colony. (Applause.) Thus, pupils aspire to complete their education by taking university degree much in the same way as most of our public school boys do at Home in our large public schools. It was here in this hall that the first germ was evolved which has developed into the present University scheme. the progress of the evolution of that germ. Evolution, as you all know, especially those of you who have studied geology and astronomy and the various theories of the cosmic laws, know that it is a slow process, and this matter of the University, although we have pushed it with ardour and with success, it will be some little time before the University is an established fact. The contract for the completion of the buildings expires at the end of this year, but after that there is the equipment of the laboratories, furnishing and various other matters. However, I hope that when I come here next year I shall be able to announce an early opening. (Applause.) In the meantime, am very glad indeed to hear that you hope to begin almost at once with the building of the mission hostel. I hope that in the not far distant future this mission hestel may become a very integral part of the University of Hongkong, competing with other residential houses colleges for honours alike in sport and studies as the old historical colleges Oxford and Cambridge do: a new Stephen's College with your present school affiliated to it. But to return to the progress of the University. The immediate matter in hand is the drawing up of an Ordinance for its constitution and incorporation. That Ordinance has been modelled on the charter of the Bristol University, the latest and most up to date of our English universities. and I have also written to India for the draft law of the Burmah University, which it is perhaps contains some useful suggestions. The problem is a very difficult one: it is one that has been dealt with at enormous length in a bulky volume which was issued by the Indian Government as long ago as 1889. which is full of reports on this subject by the highest educational and administrative author-respect which is such an integral part of the Chinese family life, and upon which the Chinese social system is based, with regard to this system, I say, we shall endeavour to find some solution and I see no reason why we should not find the solution which is compatible to our circumstance and ideals. We are a new University; and we are the heir to the experience of all the older universities. We can profit by the results of that experience, and we can take warning by their failures-We are ambitious, too, of finding some solution to this problem of which I have spoken of inculcating a rule of standard of life which, while it is based on high principles, shall not involve the compulsory teaching of religion. That is the question, the problem for us. have discussed it with high authorities and Chinese gentlemen at Peking, and I invite you, Sir, to study the problem in a broad and liberal spirit. The tooks to which I have referred are at your disposal at any time, and we shall be delighted to have the results of your experience in this College, which is in itself a standing proof of the possibility of the solution of that problem. (Applause.) My Lord Bishop, I offer no apology for having spoken at such length on the subject of the University, for it is a subject, as I have said, which must particularly interest this College of St. Stephen's. Elsewhere I may dwell on the fact that the Univer-ity is only one item in the educational problem of this Colony: that the primary education and the instruction of the vast majority of boys who do not aspire to complete their education by taking a University degree isat least as important, and perhaps more important, than the question of the University. Indeed, if circumstances had not prevented me from being present on Saturday last at the prize-giving of the Ellis Kadoorie School, I had intended to speak on this aspect of the educational question, and discuss and explain a mo of the recent develop. ments in our grant code system. I was not present at your prize-giving last year because I had had the pleasure a week or two before of attending here and opening these new premises. and I thought therefore that I ought, instead, to go to the Diocesan Boys' School. But have noted with pleasure in your last year's report, as well as in the report which the Warden has just read to us, various items which call for special remark. I see that you have established physical laboratories These will be of the greatest possible benefit to those boys who intend to take up science. I hope sently. THE PROSECUTION OF A SHANGHAI DIRECTOR.

In H. M. Police Court at Shanghai, on the 10th, before G.W King, Esq., Pelice Magistrate, Mr. H. J. Craig appeared in answer to a summons, issued at the instance of the Crown Advocate, the charge reading as follows: -For one William Pitts and on divers other dates between the last mentioned day and May 16, 1910, unlawfully, fraudulently and deceitfully, federate and agree together, and with divers other persons whose names are unknown to the complainant (the Crown Advocate) by divers acquire to yourselves and from the Siak Indrapoera Rubber Concessions, Ld., divers large sums of money and certificates of the said company thereof.

Mr. S. H. McKean appeared to presecute on behalf of the Crown Advocate, and Mr. R. N. Macleod appeared for the defence.

After the Magistrate had read and explained the charge, Mr. Macleod asked if his Worship had said that the complaint was laid by the Crown Advocate. . His Worship replied that the information was sworn by Mr. Wilkinson. Mr. McKean said that he did not think it necessary to prove the service of the summons. as Mr. Craig had appeared in answer to it Counsel would ask the Court for a short adjournment in order that he might bring the case foward in the particular way howished to. He intended to call some witnesses who have to appear on subpæna first. As the summons had only been issued the previous day, he had had no opportunity to obtain these subpands from the Court. He would ask for a short adjournment, as he did not like to ask the Court for any lengthy adjournment for this purpose; as adjournment for two days would suffice.

In reply to his Worship, Mr. Macleod said that he objected to the application. He thought it was a very extraordinary procedure. The Crown Advocate had made the complaint, but was not present in Court, and Counsel wished I may have the pleasure of inspecting it pre- Educational Commissioner, and in that import- to ask him one or two questions. He understood that the information was laid by the Crown Advocate, who had made a most serious charge, and who then asked for an adjournment have also formed an advisory board of five Educational Commissioner, and in the course of for two days. In the circumstances, Counsel submitted that he was entitled to ask the Crown Advocate certain questions which he would like his Worship to consider in reference to whether any adjournment shoul! be allowed. Perhaps it would help his Worship if Counsel informed him what the questions were that he wished to ask. The first was: "Is it not a fact that the Crown Advocate is acting for Dr. Nijhuis? His Worship - That, of course, is within the judicial notice of the Court. Mr. Maclood-And it is also practically before the Court that his client, Dr. Nijhuis, has been charged or accused by the Company of doing something the same as this.

His Worship-That I do not know. Dr. Vijhnis is a Dutch subject. Mr. Macleod-Yes. but it is also before the Court in a civil action. The Crown Advocate lays information of a very serious charge against a prominent citizen in Shanghai, and he should at least appear here and explain himself. This all I have to say.

His Worship-I think he is represented by Mr. McKean.

Mr. Maclood-What I object to is that he has made a charge on oath under, to say the very least of it, the most peculiar circumstances, and he is not in Court

Mr. McKean-If Mr. Macleod challenges the right of the Crown Advocate to make any complaint he thinks necessary, I have nothing to say. I now say that I am entitled to an adjournment, if I apply for it on reasonable grounds. The grounds are that there are certain witnesses I wish to call first, and in the conduct of the case I am entitled to call the witnesses in the ordinary way. If the Court thinks that is a reasonable application. I am entitled to the His Worship-Would you be ready in two

Wr. McKean-Yes.

Mr. Macleod-Where a complaint is made by anybody, I submit that that person ought to be in Court, and if an adj urnment is asked for, I believe I am entitled to ask questions of a person who has taken his cath on an information. The question I want to ask is: "Is it not a fact that Mr. Wilkinson is acting for Dr. Nijhuis, who is interested in a civil suit against the Company, and who has been accused by that Company of almost exactly what is charged against the accused here?" The case between the Company and Dr. Nijhuis is, I believe—I am not acting for either party, I am not absolutely aware how f r the proceedings have gone-a case in which Dr. Nijhuis claims certain shares from the ground of fraud. His Worship-In which Court would that Mr. Macleod-In the Supreme Court.

His Worship-If I send for the record I can see the allegation. Mr. McKean-No defence has been filed, but I believe that by consent there has been a stay of proceedings until after this case. Mr. Macleod -That makes these proceedings all the more peculiar.

His Worship-I will grant the adjourment for two days. There is, however, the question Mr. Macleod-I, of course, ask that the acoused should be remanded on bail. His Worship-Certainly, I should grant that-Mr. Craig and two British subjects in the sum of $5,000 ca h. Mr. W. A. C. Platt - I am quite willing to go

His Worship—I take it that you can. . Mr. Platt-I am in a position to put up the hospital for two years, off and on, with it. The last time I attended for five months without success. My back, chest, legs, arms, scalp, in fact all over, were covered with the eruption. I could not sleep at night, nor rest in the daytime. My back was a smother from neck to hips with hundreds of spots and nasty sores. They worried me and tortured me so I felt as though I could tear myself to pleces. I showed some of my work-mates, and they said that they never saw anything so bad, and they know how I was worried and tortured by this terrible itching ak in disease. "I had tried many remedies without any use, but finally I started using Cuticura Ointment and with the very first application I was relieved and had no itching at all. Then got a good night's sleep which I had not had in weeks. Within a fortnight everything had completely disappeared as if by magic power, and I have had no trouble since. know that Cuticura has cured me, and strongly advise those who suffer with any skin trouble, however bad it may be or whatever other remedies may have falled them, to give the wonderful Cuticura Remedies a trial. I believe their cure will be effected, not for a little while but for good, for Cuticura had one of the worst cases to tackle when it cured me." (Signed) G. J. is one of the many casual every day injunctions wherein turks much unnoticed wisdom. The man who looks alive is always and everywhere successful. In business it is the "live" man who gets to the top: in society it is the active, gracious, agreeable person who is most run after: In the domestic circle it is the cheerful member who most completely with and holds our affection. Therefore look alive! If you are suffering from anything which robs you of your healthy alertness attend to the trouble at once and dont rest until a cure is elfacted. If you suspect that dyspepsla or any disordered state of the stomach, liver, or bowels, is sapping your vitality, it is certain that without dolay, you should

His Worship-I am not questioning your ability to put up $5,000 or that you would assist Mr. Craig to leave the jurisdiction, but you are Mr. Maclerd's partner.

His Worship then intimated that he would accept Mr. Platt, and, another surety being forthcoming, the matter was disposed of, the case being remanded until 10 a.m. on Thursday, the 12th instant.

THE BISHOP OF MACAO. MISSION TOUR.

(Concluded.)

XMAS DAY AT SHIU BING. Christmas Day was spent at Shiu Hing. A midnight of the 24th, an extraordinary throng of Christians from the different missions. -came to assist at the Xwas festivities celebrated in the Church by the Portugese Prelate. his Lordship Bishop Azevedo e Castro celebrated his first Mass attended by two missionaries The Christians said their prayers in their musical dielect, as is usually done by the faithful of these missions. At the Communicanearly 140 persons approached the Holy Table, having the priests. At the close of the Mass, his Lordship attired in his cope went in procession to the place where a crib was laid, singing with the clergy the Magnificat.

The crib was artistically arranged at the foot of the alter of the Sacred Heart, on the Gospel side, surrounded with a profusion of palms and flowers, surmounted by a golden star. The beautiful image of the child Jesus, with eyes open and arms outstretched, was inconsed and reverently kissed by the Bishop, who gave it in turn to all the priests and faithful to kiss while the congregation sung the Adeste fideles with enthusiasm and devotion.

good Christian, having a thorough knowledge of the local dialect, with the consent of the missionary-in-charge, addressed the congregation, relating the history of the birth of the Child God and of the appearance of the angels to the shepherds.

The second Mass said by his Lordship was at 7 o'clock in the morning, when the attendance of Christians was quite as large as before; over 20 received the Holy Communion. . . .

It had been anmounced that a Pontifical Mass would be celebrated by his Lordship the Bishop on this day with every possible solemnity, finishing with the Papal Blessing, which his Lordship, by apostolic authority, can admin. ister at any special feast of his choice. In fact at 9 o'clock in the morning, his Lordship the Bishop having taken his Pontifical seat, especially arranged at the main altar, and being attired in his official robes, started the Solemn Mass, acclyted by the Rev. Fathers Francisco Situ and Adrosldo M. dos Santos, and the chief assistant, Rev. Fr. Alves da Silva, the senior missionary of the diocese, who accompanied the Bishop during his tour. The music was conducted by the Rev. Fr. Pitta Lages, missionary-in-charge of the Shiu Hing district, who, at the Gospel, stepped forward and delivered an appropriate sermon in Chinese with admirable fluency.

At the conclusion of the Mass, his Lordship substituted his chasule for a rich cope and took his seat under a palanquin, while the Descon intoned the Confiteor and the congregation received the Papal Blessing administered by the Bishop according to the Ritual. The Blessod Sacrament was exposed during the evening in the little Church of Shiu Hing, during which the hymn Pange lingua was sung by the choir, concluding with the Benediction of the Holy Secrement, after which Confirmation, was administered by the Bishop to Christians who had come from some fer-off districts. Finally there was the Christmas-tree. A request had been made to Macao, to the Rev. Dr. A. Gomes, the parish priest of Sto. Antonio and the founder of the pious institution named "Pão dos Pobres," for a small contribution for the poor of Shiu Hing on this particular occasion. The request was promptly attended to, and consisted partly of a variety of toys and sweets for the children, dolls, handkerchiefs, socks, singlets and interesting little articles. All these things were hung on a small tree at the entrance of the mission house. The delight of the children and people when the distribution started was most marked. The only duty now remaining for his Lordship the Bishop to fulfil at the close of his mission was to personally call on the local authorities in order to thank them for all the demonstrations of respect and consideration shown to him in giving him a bodyguard for the tour and for placing a squal of policemen at the mission house for his protection. His Lordship the Bishop sent his secretary to the Prefect of the City with a message announcing his intended visit, and messages were subsequently sent to the two mandaring, chiefs of the civil and military departments. The Taotai had relinquished | Loans on provident

At 10.30 a. m. of the same day, the Bishop left the mission house, in a gala-chair, accompanied by the Rev. Ers. M. Alves de Silva, Pitta Lages, Adroaldo dos Santos and the sub-deacon, Joso de Lima, in chairs, the bodyguard leading the way. Arriving at the Prefect's residence, they were escoried into the reception room, where a guard of honour was posted and the Prefect came to meet the Bishop. His Lordship. in a short speech, which was interpreted by the Rev. Fr. Pitts, said that the object of his visit was to thank the Prefect of Shiu Hing for the proofs of consideration and esteem received in his district, mentioning particularly the bodyguard and the squad of policemen assigned for his protection. His Lordship said he had admired the richness and fertility of the country, and he expressed his admiration of the many good qualities of the Chinese people—their industry, sobriety and submissiveness.. The mission of a Catholic Bishop, he said, was a mission wholly of peace, and his greatest desire and that of the missionaries of: his diocese, was that the people of the district belonging to the Catholic Church should be most obedient and respectful to the authorities and generally of good behaviour. As proof of his grateful acknowledgment of the kindness received at the Prefect's hands, his Lordship offered him the hospitality of his residence at Maono whenever he pleased to call there.

The Prefect, in replying to the Bishov's speech, expressed immense satisfaction for the honour conferred on him by his Lordship's visit and for the generous expressions of esteem for his people. He further said that what he had done was very little for so distinguished a visitor, and that which had been done was much less than he was bound to do, because he was afraid that some ill-behaviour on the part of the soldiers might have perhaps displeased him. Owing to his old age he would not attempt to travel to Europe nor to Macao, but that he much respected and appreciated the kind offer.

After the visit to the Prefect, his Lordship, with his suite, proceeded to the residence confessed and been duly prepared on the eve by of the two mands ring above-mentioned, to thank tham also for the reception given intended presenting his respects to the Viceroy of Canton, who had ordered the local authorities to show him the honour and consideration he had experienced. His Lordship wrote to the Poringnese Consul General, Mr.C.d'Assum: cao informing him of his intention and asking him to apply to the Viceroy for an appointment. The Consul received a reply to his dispatch, in which the Viceroy expressed his great regret at not be-His Lordship left Shin Hing for Canton, and thence came on to Hongkong, where he remained as a guest of Monsignor Pozzoni until Saturday, the 7th January, when he embarked for Singapore per the P. & O. mail steemer Devanha.

On the same day, in the evening, both the Project and one of the mandarins returned his Lordship's visits; the other mandarin called on the Bishon two days fater.

NATIONAL ASSEMBLY V. GRAND COUNCIL.

THE IMPEACHMENT MEMORIAL.

Following is a translation of the memorial of the National Assembly imposching the Grand Council: -

The Tzucheng Yuan bogs to memorialize that the Grand Council is not aware of its responsibilities" and consequently unable to render satisfactory services. It will be noted that in a constitutional country there are a parliament and a cabinet-one deliberating matters and the other executing them. They are interdependent and only when each discharges its duty well can the government be successful. Now China is preparing for the adoption of a constitution and the Tzuchenc Yuan is being convened, as the foundation of the Upper and Lower Houses. It has been graciously assigned the duty of representing the public opinion and deliberating on the budget, new laws, etc. Its members being fully alive to their important burden have worked day and night in hopes to fulfil the Imperial order by doing their utmost. They Before leaving Shiu Hing, his Lordship are of opinion that the Yuan has only the deliberative function, while the government has the executive power. Therefore, the two must sympathize and co-operate with each other in order to realize the Imperial wish for national

At present as the official system has not been changed and no cabinet has been organized, the Grand Council, whose members are to assist in the administration and sign Edicts, is naturally ing able to receive a visit from so distinguished | considered as the executive department. At the personage, as he was no longer in the post, beginning of the Tzucheng Yuan the repre Before the midnight Mass, a catechist and a having been substituted by another official, sentatives expected to be informed of the then shortly expected at Canton, and that his responsibilities of the Grand Council, but in present private residence was unsuitable for vain. Prompted by curiosity and circumstance, official reception. He returned most sincere they have duly sent word to the Grand Council thanks for his Lordship's kind intention, asking if it is responsible for the execution of State affairs. Its reply is that this question cannot be answered until the formation of a responsible cabinet. This evidently means the Council is non-responsible. Such shirking of responsibility and neglect of duty is beyond the unierstanding of the Yuan. Despite offending others the Yuan asks leave to enumerate for the Throne the defects the Grand Council has shown.

In an imperial government the sovereign is held sacred and cannot be imprached. So whatever is good belongs to the sovereign and whatever is wrong belongs to the ministers. For the same reason in modern countries the ministers are responsible for all the actions of the government, so that the people may correct the government whenever it commits mistakes without embarrassing the sovereign. What a wise policy it is to promote the welfare of the nation and protect the secredness of the sovereign! Since China has determined to adopt a constitution, it is necessary for her ministers to take responsibility for national affairs. Put they have denied this notion. Prompt in drawing salaries and tardy in taking responsibility, their conduct canno be found in ministers of a constitutional government, nor is it in accord with the ancient ideal of a minister. This is the first defect of the Grand Council. In a constitutional country the function of the ministers of State is to determine what policies should be adopted in the different ministries and how power should be consolidated in each ministry. They should therefore have Auditors.-The accounts have been audited knowledge of affairs of the whole nation, weigh their importance and arrange them according to their relative value, so as to insure good management. Since the establishment of the Government Council for State Affairs, the Grand Councillors have also been its leading members. position they are not lower than the premier of a western country. They are therefore expected to serve the function of a premier in executing State affairs and adopting polices to meet the changing circumstances. But to the contrary the Grand Councillors are accustomed to deal with State affairs and memorials as a matter of formality. In leisure they are lazv and at work they are delinquent. Regarding affairs of education they do not co-operate with the Nungkungshang Pa; regarding affairs of transportation and communication they do not cooperate with the Yuchuan Pu; in the same way regarding affairs of fivance, army, interior and diplomacy they do not co-operate with the respective Pu, etc. They raise obstacles to reforms and even their own policies are often self-conflicting. It short, they are councillors in name, but not in fact. This is the second defect of the Grand

Conneil Now the country is in danger, internal and external troubles arising simultaneously. The people are in poverty and the country is in bankruptcy. The Grand Councillors are receiving the greatest imperial favour and holding the highest positions, and yet refuse their responsibilities on the one hand and fail in their management of affairs on the other. are passive and idle, disregarding the wish of the Throne and the needs of the people. They attend to their private interest rather than publie welfare. The safety of the nation and the grievances of the people are things strange to their hearts. The result is the Prince Regent is to suffer unnecessary anxiety and the 400,000,000 people are in the midst of poverty and grief. Many Edicts, it will be remembered, have been issued commanding the Grand Councillors to reform and work hard, but these have produced little effect on them. Every day they discharge their duties in the same lethergic manner. They are most graciously trusted by the Throne, but they appear active in publicand forget their trust in private, bring not the least concerned about the destiny of the country. The members of the Tzucheng Yuan are indignantat this state of things, and by vote of the majority respectfully communicate it to the Throne. President Pu Lun and Vice-President Shen Chia-pen, in RYGJA, Norwegian str., 2,491, E. Meyer, 15th observation of the Yuan's regulations, article 106, present this memorial requesting the Throne to exercise discretion, reassure the Edict issued on the third instant, and order the immediate organization of the responsible Cabinet. Meanwhile they pray that an Edict be issued assuring the responsibilities of the Grand Council. This will prevent the Council from delinquence and serve good lessons for other officials. This | Shantung, British str., 1.835, J. Robinson, cannot but assist constitutional preparations now going on in this country, etc. etc.

A WIERD TALE OF THE SEA.

We recently had some comments based-upon telegraphic summary of the Board of Trade inquiry into the loss of the Waratah. The following report of the Inquiry will prove of interest to many readers :--

The inquiry by the Board of Trade into the loss of the Blue Anchor liner Waratah, which was last seen off the coast of South Africa on July 27 of last year, was resumed on the 16th ult, at Caxton Hill, Westminister, by Mr. John Mr. Noel E. Peck, a director of Messra. Barclay. Curle & Co. (the builders of the ship), said that no complaint was received from Messrs. Lund, the owners, after the return of the Waratah from her first voyage as to the vessel's behaviour at sea, but they did have a complaint from Messrs. Liund with regard to her ability to shift in dock without ballast. Messrs. Lund said the Waratah had not the same stability as the Gee'ong, and they expressed surprise at not having received plans of the curve lines of the vessel. Messrs, Lund asked the builders to take the responsibility for the shifting of the Waratah in dock without ballast. Captain Ilbery (-aid Messrs Lund) was of the opinion that the Warafah had not the same stability us the Geelong, and the contract was that the Waratah was to have greater stability. "We must hold you reponsible for anything that may happen," Mesers. Lund wrote to the builders; "the responsibility for the vessel's performance is entirely with you." Witness added that he was able to convince Mesers. Lund that the Waratah was as stable as the Geelong, in spite of the opini a of Captain libery to the contrary. Mr. Bucknill-Have you built many ships that would not stand upright when empty? We have built some.

Can you give us the names of such ships? Witness gave the name of one vesel which was now in foreign service; Answering Mr. Dickinson, witness said the only condition discussed at the interview he had with Mr. Lund related to the shifting of the vessel in the dock. "A VERY HANDY SHIP." Captain Clark, Board of Trade Assistant-Emigration Officer for the London division; said that he "cleared" the Waratah on her first 10 voyage to Australia, when she carried 689 emigrants. to far as his memory carried him, Captain Dbery expressed himself as being very well satisfied with the behaviour of the vessel as a whole. The term the captain used was, he believed, "She is a very handy ship." Harry Mackay Bennett, who was second mate on the Waratah on her first voyage, said he left the ship because he was promoted to another ship. Mr. Raeburn-Did you ever tell anyone that you left because some alteration was to be made in the ship !-- No: A woman, dressed in deep black, here interrupted the witness, and remarked. "Yes, you did you told me and my husband." At this point Mr. H. H Gibbs, of Bognor, rose and remarking that he had a son on the Waratah, said that he understood from what Bennett had told him that he (Bennett) had left the Waratah because something was going to be done to the ship.

Mrs. Gibbs (rising from the back of the ball) I had it from your fiances, and your friend as well, that that was the reason you left the ship: Mr. Claude Sawyer, a company director, of 23, Phonix Lodge-mansions, Brook Green, Hammersmith, said that in 1909 he booked first olass from Sydney to Cape Town in the Waratah, and sailed on June 26. He was accustomed to travel a good deal, and on the passage between Sydney and Durban on the Waratah he noticed that when she left Molbourne she had a big, list to port. Later on she wabbled about a good deal, and veered over to

was very uncomfortable walking along the VESSEL'S STRANGE BEHAVIOUR Witness heard complaints also of her rolling, but he did not think much of that, as he had had previous experience in other ships. The Waratah alermed him before she reached Durban. On leaving Adelaide it was fine, but it became somewhat rough, and the boat rolled in a disagreeable and alarming way. She remained a long time on her side as if she could not recover her equilibrium. When she did get upright starboard, and remained there a long time. It she would give a bit of a jerk; as a consequence of which several passengers had bad falls. Witness made enquiries of his cabin steward about the roll, and the steward said, 'She can roll when she likes." "As we got near Durban," witness continued, "I was talking about the roll to another passenger who had been a sailor. We walked forward along the promenade deck and watched the ship pitching. The seemed simply to plough through the waves, and when one very big wave struck her, my friend said he had never seen any ship behave in the way she did. I came to the decision to leave the ship about ten days before we arrived at Durban." Witness added that several passengers, some of whom had only booked to Durban, werethrown down by the jerks of the ship. A lady and a gentleman were walking across the dock in fine weather with a smooth see with a swell, when a sudden jerk caused them to fall. Witness told several of the passengers that he intended to dream; leave the ship at Durban, as he did not like her. He might have told some of the officers as well. Mr. Laing-Did vou have some dreams or apparition which influenced your mind?

Witness-Yes, after I had spoken to the passenger who was a sailor about the pitching ship pitch. of the vessel. We had very fine weather, and was asked to arrange games on deck, and I did not think much of the matter, but I watched the ship pitching several times, and once I thought that if the forward deck were to become filled with water there would be something like 1,000 tons of water there, and she would not be able to recover herself.

A WARNING. Then (witness continued) about three or four decided to leave the Waratah before he had any days before we get to Durban, I did have a dream of the dreams, which was most unusual. I saw a man with a long sword, which he held in his right hand, and his thumb was saturated with blood. I saw that three times. The second time I had a good look at him, and I could almost draw the design of the sword and the man even now. had some conversation about it afterwards with a passenger, Mr. Ebworth. He remarked that it was a warning. Then I began to think why it should be a warning, and I remembered my former decision, and I was anxious to get off the

Mr. Laing-Did the apparition appear on the same night? Witness-Yes, three times successively in the early morning. Mr. Laing-Did it have any influence in making you leave the ship? Witness It reminded me that I should go. Mr. Laing-You think you would have got off if you had not had this dream? Witness-I think I would have, but I was not so keen as I was. I had got settled down. The apparition settled you?-Yes. Then you sent a telegram to your wife ?-- Yes.

THE BORKUM ESPIONAGE

TRIAL OF BRITISH OFFICERS.

Lieutenant Brandon, R.N., and Captain Trench, R.M.L.I., appeared on December 21st before the Supreme Court of the Empire at Leipzig to answer a charge of espionage at Borkum and elsewhere in August last. Lieutenant Brandon was arrested close to some military works at Borkum on the night of August 21, and Captain Trench shortly afterwards at an hotel at Endon. After a preliminary examination before the local Courts at Emden, evidence was laid before the Supreme Court of the Empire. Towards the end of October the German logal authorities, after preparing the case against the prisoners, submitted the dossier to the military and naval authorities, with the result that the two officers are being proceeded against under the imperial Law of July, 1893, "against the betrayal of military secrets. They were removed from Emden to Leipzig early in September, and have been confined in prison there for the last three months. They have not been allowed to see each other since arrest.

The trial was held before thirteen Judges in the great cak-panelled hall of the Imperial Court Buildings. The examination of the prisoners, which began immediately after the assembling of the Court at 9 o'clock, was conducted partly b Dr. Menge the President, and partly by Dr. weigert, the Attorney-General of the Empire, he is leading the prosecution. Towards the coldusion important evidence was given for the prosecution by Captain Tagert, the chief nave representative. The prisoners were defended by Dr von Gordon, of Berlin, and Dr. Otto, Leipzig.

THE EVIDENCE.

The main ort of the prosecution has been to establish connection between the prisoners and the Britt Intelligence Service. The examination ctred throughout the morning's proceedings certain communications which passed beton the prisoners and a person named " Brie," who, according to the proseoution, wattached to the Intelligence Depart-ment of thidmiralty; and on the use by the prisoners a "maval Baedeker" - apparently a publical of the British Admiralty for the correctic errors in which they were alleged to have a collecting information. The prisoners ned to discuss the question of connection tween "Reggie" and the British Admir, and stated that it was no part of uty" to collect information for Baedeker." said that he was in the Admiralty Survey Service. He had never travelled abroad with Captain Trench before. He intended to collect information and place it at the disposal of a third person.

The President-Who was this person? Lieutenant Brandon-I will call him "Reggis," though that is not the person's name. He then spelled the name out to the President. The President-You do not wish to designate "Reggie" more nearly?

in London. The President then inquired into the ident. ity of a person who figures under the name of "Charles" in one of the letters of the case. Lieutenant Brandon had said that it meant himself. This Captain Trench confirmed, adding that the "John Birch" who figured in their correspondence referred to himself.

A letter was then read in Court in which both these names occurred. Captain Trench - "Reggie" is connected with the Intelligence Bureau of the Admiralty. Pressed further on the point, Captain Trench refused to say what that connection was. A NAVAL "BAEDEKEE."

Lieutenant Brandon informed the Judge that he had a list of figures and names were omitted:-"Breakwaters, questions to answer with regard to Cuxhaven. Lieutenaut Brandon described how he went with a guide to Heligoland and made notes concerning the new harbour there. Asked why he noted his observation on mostcards instead of in his note-book and if the cards were sent to England, Captain Trench denied that he had forwarded the cards. It was merely as a matter of convenience that he made notes on cards. He went to Sylt to get information with regard to different matters, including the economic condition of the inhabitants for the naval "Baedeker" before alluded to, and the places where meat could be bought the connections between the island and England &c. Captain Trench then went for two or three days to Norderney, where he made observations.

On August 16 he went to Wangeroog. The President .- What was interesting there i Captain Trench-There is a church tower at the end of the island, which was curious, as that is an uninhabited part of the island.

The latter replied that "reported" was used in ments of the distance of some of the gun positions the sense of "alloged." In his note he said "a'closed building corresponding to report does not exist."

This point gave rise to a close discussion. A LETTER IN CIPHER.

where I was arrested. Captain Trench-I had been to the battery previously alone and then told Lieutenant Brandon that he ought to go there. I desire to tell the whole truth to day.

• The President—Very commendable of you! Judicial Councillor von Gordon, for the defonce, then explained that Captain Trench at the hast to dispute the secrecy of the preliminary examination had misrepresented to a certain extent the incident now being gone into, and Captain Trench theu cleared the matter up saying. "I got into the battery, having been separated accidentally from Lieutenant Brandon. I came out and met Lieutenant Brandon. told him to go in, which he did. Lieutenant

Brandon was then pressed. L'eutevant Brandon at this stage of the proceedings definitely refused to say anything more about the identity of "Reggie."

Captain Trench declined to say anything at all about the second journey mentioned in the letter from "Reggie," which he had planned. Lieutenant Brandon-"Reggie" is a personal friend of mine. "Sunburnt London" is his private telegraphic address.

THE COURT AND THE PRESS.

Dr. Zweigert, the Imperial Prosecutor, interrupted the further development of the examination of the prisoners by requesting that as far as possible the proceedings should be public. The British Press had, he said, told the British public that Germans were continually spying in England in preparation for invasion.

He continued—Here are two British officers the prisoners as to their origin and past service. on the active list whose papers and admissions show plainly that they came here to gather information which could only serve to facilitate an unforeseen attack on Germany. For this reason, the utmost publicity is desirable.

At noon the Court adjourned for half an hour. The President stated before the Court rose that he agreed to the proposal of the Imperial Prosecutor that the case should be conducted as far as possible with open doors.

THE LANDINGS AT SYLT.

On resumption of the case Captain Tagert stated that the notes found as to the length and width of the landing stages and depth of water at Sylt, Amrum, and other islands were undoubtedly military information intended to facilitate a landing. This view he based on the British Admirally landing regulations. According to the accused these notes were intended for an English naval book to be used in times of peace. English warships had, however, never been there in time of peace, and there could be no object in compiling notes of this kind. Therefore in the opinion of the witness, the notes could only be intended for use in time of Captain Tagert proceeded, by means of a chart, to explain his views at length. In landing operations Sylt, he declared, was of prime importance as a point' d'appui and the landing stages on the island had been measured and photographed in great detail by the accused, who had also procured picture postcards. They had. morever, noted the shallows which they had found while bathing. Counsel for the defence suggested that measurements of depths made in this way could be of no importance, as the tides were not taken into account. Witness did not agree, and proceeded to read some of the notes. He point dout that the measurements were not merely estimated but

Captain Trench admitted that he had paced the In answer to another question, Captain Trench | landing stages, but he had only made an estimate of the depth of the water. Lieutenant Brandon also maintained that he had gone no further than to estimate the depths and calculate certain lengths ments. Witness, however, thought it was Questioned with reference to certain photo- probable that witnesses had secured definite measurements, since a compass, a sextant, a lead, and other instruments had been found. The notes made by Captain Trench with regard to Sylt were than read out, but in passages coalsheds, c alstores here. There are no oranes. Railway lines by bridge-bridge x yards long, x yards wide. Coment wall all round promenade. Wells in all villages. Indifferent roads. White reefs not visible at flood tide."

OTHER OBSERVATIONS.

Other documents were found containing questions regarding landing bridges and landing stations on Norderney. Some of the questions had the answers written against them. One question had reference to "a closed building which, 'according to the report of 1907,' served for military purposes" The position of the searchlights at Kiel was also asked for. This, it was explained by Captain Tagert, was an important point, as a raiding fleet would know from the position of the searchlights whence to expect the first shots from the land.

Counsel for the defence intervened to point out that Captain Trench had made no surveys in Kiel, as he had not the necessary instruments. Captain Tagert went on to state that in addition to the BARCHAY searchlights the position of the howitzer battery. At this point Captain Tagert, an Admiralty Tagert went on to state that in addition to the Captain Trench denied that his report on was also marked on the map, and there were also Wangeroog was sent to England, and he main sketches of Friedrichsort and Coxhaven. There tained that in this case "too, the references in were photographs of the fortifications at the latter place and sketches of particular batteries, with Captan Trench remarked that it was not com- tances. There were also close descriptions of taken with two churches on the mainland, and Lieutenant Brandon said that the allusion the position of the fortifications entered on the > Captain Tagert stated that he had examined the measurements and found them extra-On the sketches dealing with Heligoland, the quick-firing battery was marked, with measurefrom one another. The distances from extremities of the batteries to the lighthouse were also measured. Further, the gun positions on the south-east and north-west were accurately sketched. It was the same in the case of Wangeroog, of which very close measurements had
